Coach proves self, team at Weber High

by Keith Hansen
The point, as the debater would say, is not to prove what Coach Jan Keim has done in Weber High women's athletics, but to go in depth on how she has done it.

Weber High is no longer in the desert of Southern Utah of being next to the Wyoming or Idaho border. Women's athletic competitors themselves, their fans, and the like know exactly where Weber High is. And peering into the future a bit, those same competitors and fans may just be beginning a rather long acquaintance. Coach Keim, now in her fourth year as a women's athletic coach at Weber, is one that has let actions speak for themselves. She along with others have helped to put the Warriors on the map to stay. But in her it's just a beginning.

The Weber coach is going to take a rest this spring. After a full season of volleyball and basketball at Weber High, she deserves it. "I just want to sit back and relax for a while now, I'm just plain tired out right now," said Keim, who just completed another basketball season a few weeks ago. "It goes to you after while. Working every night without an assistant," said Keim.

Assistant or not, Coach Keim has enjoyed the most memorable coaching year of her career this past season. The highlight and climax of it all came with the volleyball squad taking home the coveted state championship in volleyball.

"It wasn't really the fact that we took state that thrilled me so much, it's the fact of what we had to do to win it," said Coach Keim.

The Weber coach began reliving vivid memories of long and grueling practices, teams getting together, the attitude of the players and the desire never to quit. "These are the things that really thrill me," said Keim.

"I suppose the best example of all would be to go back to state and remember just what happened. After we came back on West and won, the girls and I went crazy. We celebrated together and we celebrated together."

Keim's philosophy of sports has contributed highly to her successful record. "So many concepts of life are learned through athletics. The competition against another human being is vital. Sports should teach you to get along with others and the development of patience should begin."

Coach Keim joined the much talked about Shamrocks softball team when she was just a junior at Olympic High. For the next eight years she competed for the team and helped them go to the National Finals every year but one of the night.

After her final year with the Shamrocks and a fine four year athletic career at Weber State, Coach Keim began coaching at South Junior High. Soon after that, the job opened at Weber High and she was selected.

GRACIEL BUFFEY LEWIS, daughter of Darrell Lewis of Ogden's Item Management Division at Hill Air Force Base, Ogden, literally dances on the ice and skates three or four hours a day toward resignation. She sometimes starts skating at 5:30 a.m. and is a real winner at it, placing in four of five meets during the past year. Buffy had the honor of skating solo in the opening ice shows of Sun Valley, Idaho, the past two years, and also takes snow skiing in the winter and water skiing in the summer.

A natural desire to excel in sports and the constant encouragement from her mother, are big reasons Coach Keim is where she is today. "Always hear my mom say, 'You can do it, you can do it,' made me want to do better," said Keim.

Coach Keim has performed on girls' organized athletic teams since the fifth grade. It wasn't much after that for her coaching talents got a lift.

All-Star game set March 30

The Fifth Annual Utah High School All-Star Basketball Game is scheduled for March 30th of this month. This year's game marks the third time the Utah All-Stars go head to head with the best players from the state of Arizona.

Each year the game is not only an exciting contest between the rival teams, but also a glimpse of some of the best basketball talent from Western United States. This was evidenced last year when the Utah All-Stars defeated Arizona in a exciting game 130 to 98.

The proceeds from this year's game will go to Camp Knappton and Utah Special Olympics. The camp is the only facility of its kind in the state and provides badly needed services to those who need it most — the mentally and physically handicapped of the State of Utah.

The final selection of players and coaches will take place on March 27th following the state basketball tournament. During the game are 21 for students, $2 for adults and are available at the Special Events Center, Salt Lake City, 210 S. W. 1000.
