PERHAPS A BIT HESITANTLY AT FIRST

BUT WITH

GRADUALLY INCREASING CONFIDENCE TO WALK IN THE FOOTSTEPS OF MEMORIES.

THESE PEOPLE ARE REVERED AND LOVED FOR THE PATHS THEY'VE MADE

THE ACCOMPLISHMENTS THEY CLAIMED AS BEING THEIR OWN.

WE DISCOVERED THOSE OLD TIMES,
THESE GOOD TIMES, AS WE WALKED
ALONG THE WAY. THE IMPRESSIONS
ARE JUST NOW BEGINNING TO FADE,

BEING BARELY DISCERNIBLE IN THE SANDS

ERECTED BY THE STUDENTS OF
DIXIE JUNIOR COLLEGE
IN HONOR OF ITS FOUNDERS
AND THE
BUILDERS OF DIXIE

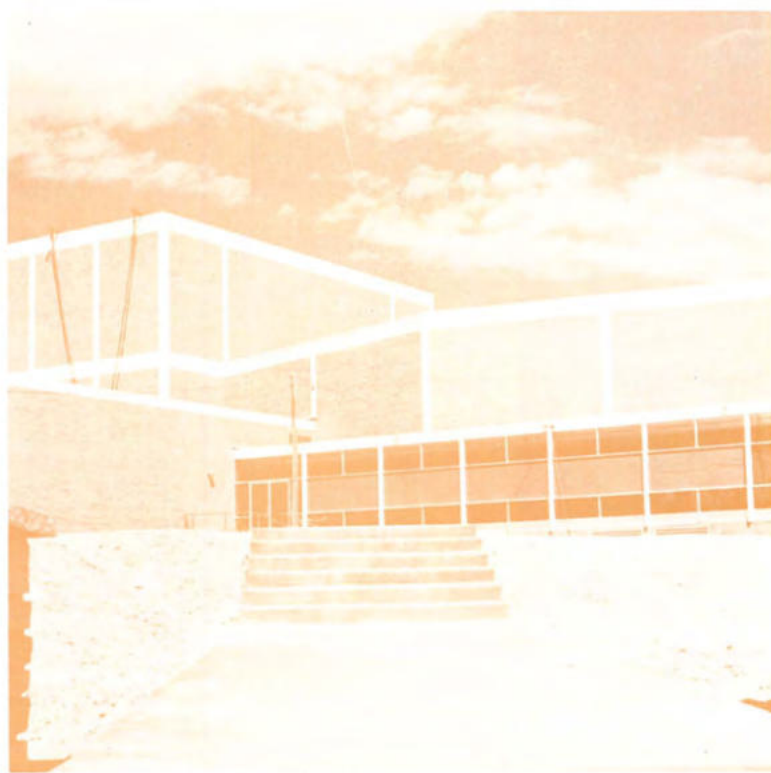

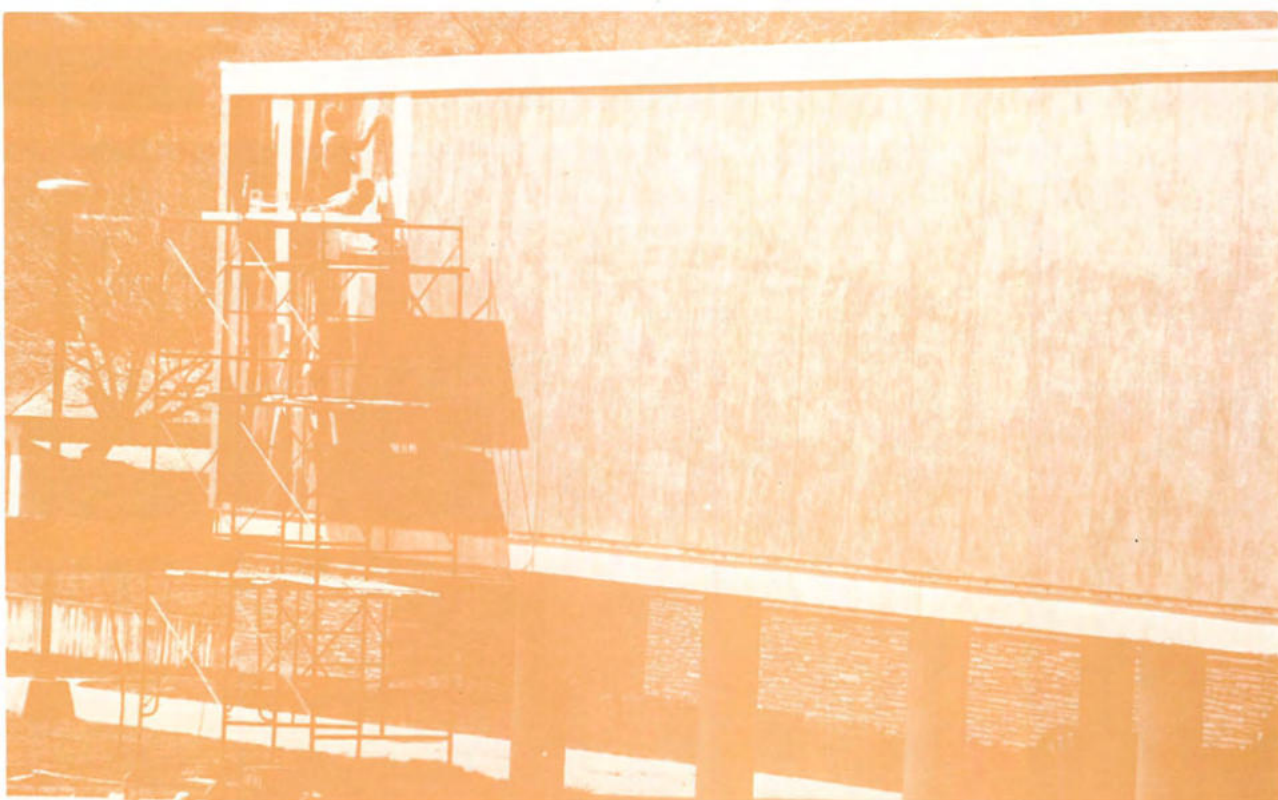

WHERE THERE WERE, THERE ARE NO MORE, THE MEMORIES,
THE IMPRESSIONS ARE GONE.

WE CREATED OUR OWN.

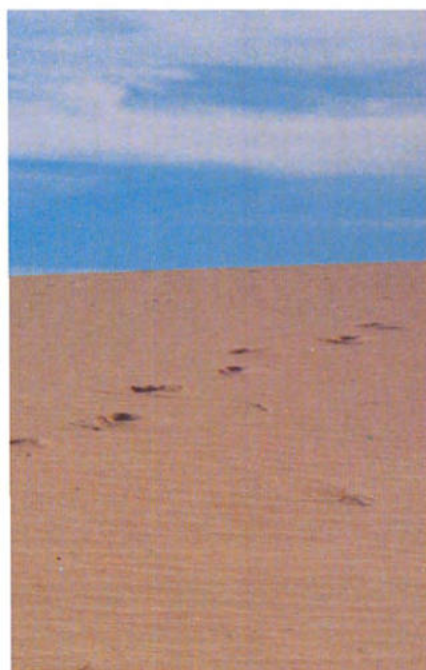

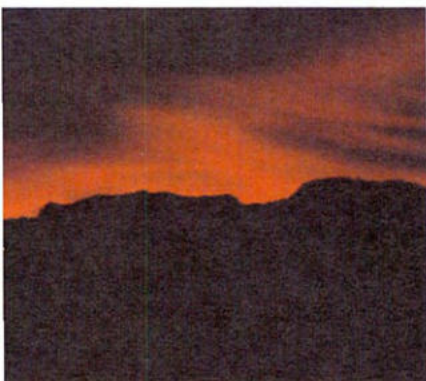

EMBARKING

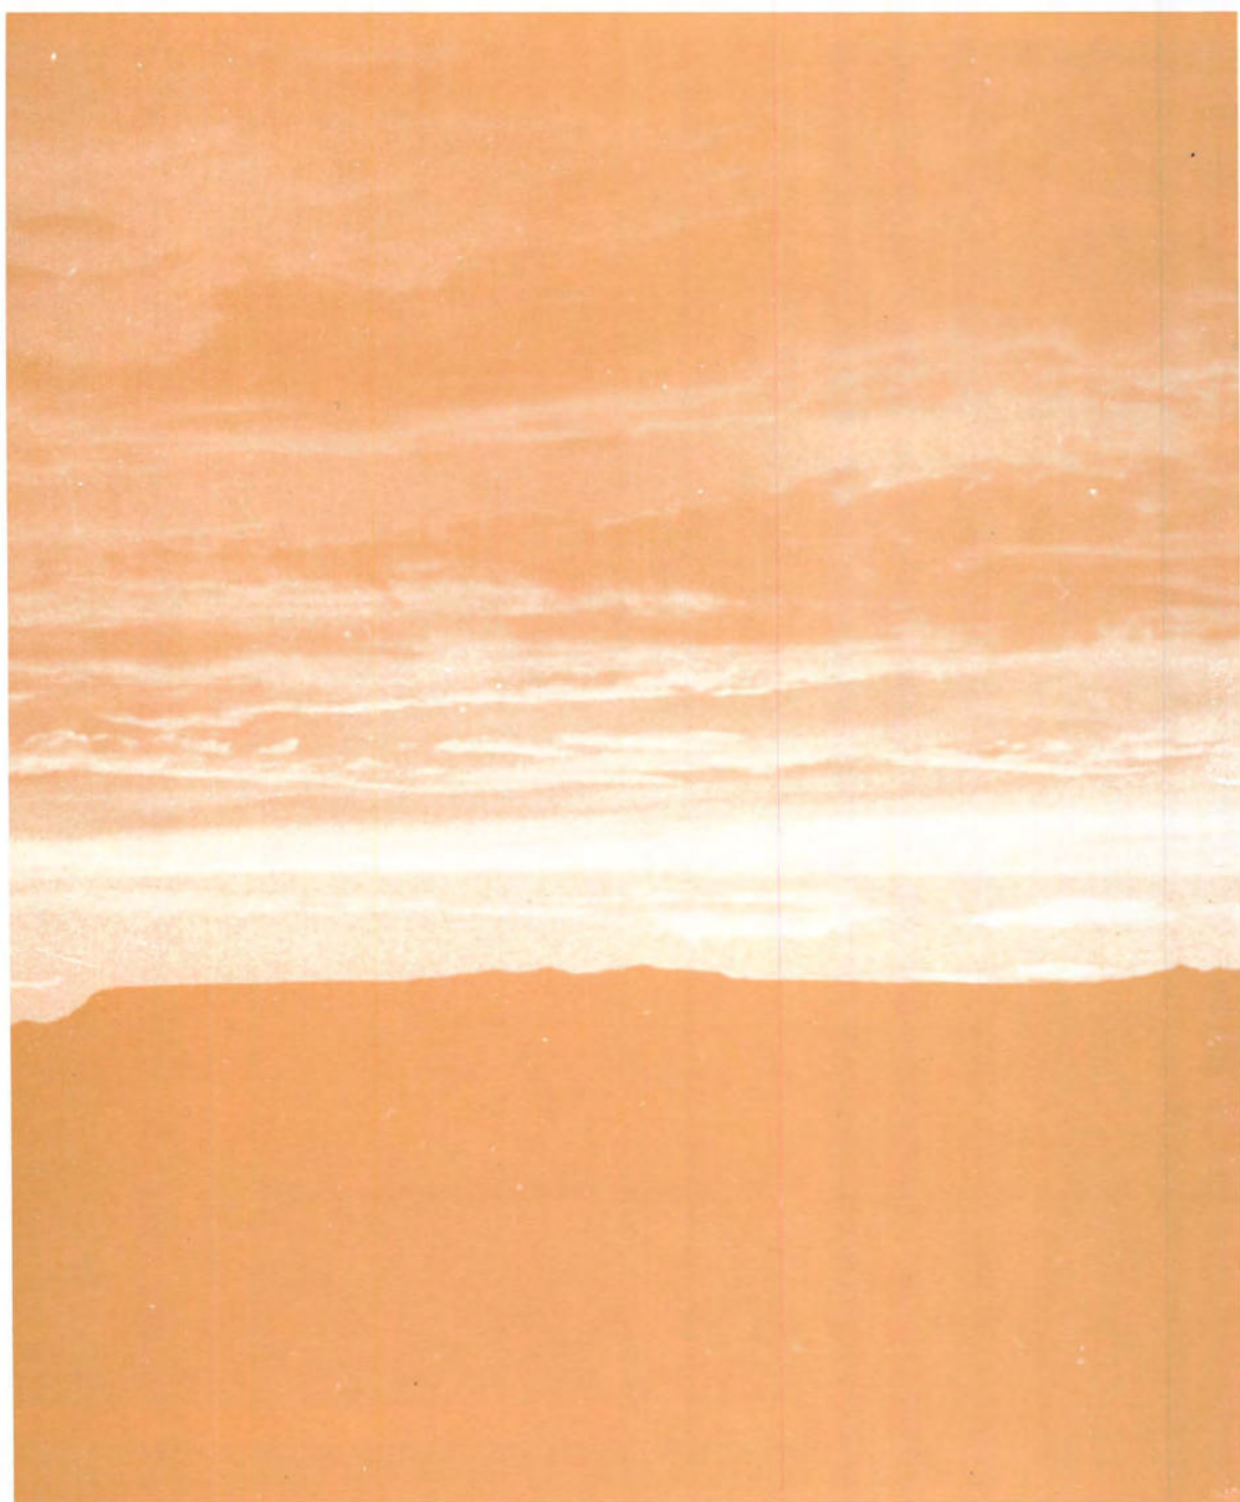

ON NEW PATHS, WE WORKED, AND WE PLAYED.

WE LEARNED OF LIFE AND LOVE, JOY AND SORROW,
BUILDING MEMORIES TO BE CHERISHED IN OUR HEARTS.

EVEN NOW, OTHERS BEGIN, FALTERINGLY, TO WALK IN THE PATHS WE'VE CREATED.

SOON WE TOO MUST GO AND LEAVE BEHIND

OUR IMPRESSIONS IN TIME . . .

ADMINISTRATION ADMINISTRATION.

BEATING THE SYSTEM

Administration. The word is synonymous with the picture of ogres hunched over desks, ready to pounce on cowering students. But really, the instructors and other college officials work for the students, not against them. Why this feeling then? The biggest gripe against administrators seems to be 'the system' — which denotes authority, power, rules and influence.

"Your mid-term exam will be given Monday morning at 9:00 a.m. sharp. You'll all be here, or you will have to pay a $10 fee to make it up. Also, please work on your absenteeism. It effects your grades considerably."

For each action there is an equal or opposite reaction. For each rule a way exists to break it and not get caught.

Taking the easy way out. Escaping. Beating the system. For some it's all just a part of the past. For others, it is still a big part of their daily routine.

In years gone by, not even the cream of the composition class could top the originality some students exercised in weaving tales of homework that disappeared.

"My baby brother spit up on it," or "It got run over by a Mazda on the Boulevard," never did skip past a skeptical teacher.

When tricksters camouflage obvious deceptions, they are not more successful. "I didn't understand the terminology because I'm not yet conditioned to the stimuli, therefore I didn't complete the assignment," boggles some instructors minds.

Foiled again, the system loses a bout in its match with the students.

And the score is: student 1, system 0.

Some instructors insist you be present to class the amount of days required to complete the given course, while others tolerate it if you only show up for the tests.

For those courses that do require attendance, the chronic ditcher uses everything from working, to attending his grandfather's funeral twice a year as an excuse to escape classes. With a lot of luck his absence is excused.

Students 2, system 0.

The housing rules state "Members of the opposite sex must be out by 11:00. With the discovery that by applying a little make-up and some extra apparel they could give the appearance of an attractive roommate, some boys escaped notice.

Students 3, system 0.

Pick a rule, any rule, no matter how ironclad it seems. Search out every loophole; then plot and concoct.

That's how to beat the system.

By the way, come grade time, those tricky students, who have seemed to be winning all along, definitely haven't scored a 4 (as in 4.0); system takes all.

So think about it, take the information your instructors are giving you, and remember about the impressions you're leaving in time.

Warning: Students who have been caught, have determined that trying to beat the system can be hazardous to your grades, reputation, and, if your parents find out, your health.
